Wendy Whale to the rescue
Group-guided reading

Before reading

- Page through the story the learners will read. Talk about the illustrations.
- Ask them to predict what the story will be about; based on the title and the pictures.
- Introduce new or difficult words prior to the learners reading the story.
- Make word cards to introduce new vocabulary. (See the list of new vocabulary in the back inner cover.)

First reading

- Learners should read the text individually.
- Learners should read silently or they can ‘whisper-read’ the text.
- Move from one learner to the next, requesting each learner to read a section of the text aloud.

Discussion

- Ask comprehension questions based on the text.
- Focus on phonics, sight words and vocabulary.
- You will find the activities in the back of this book useful to guide the discussion. (Select appropriate activities for the level of the learners.)

Second reading

- On later days, let learners reread the book, either in pairs or alone.
- Focus on fluency, grammar and vocabulary.
- Let learners complete the group-guided activities which are included in the back of this book. (Select appropriate activities for the level of the learners.)

Let learners do a role play if the text lends itself to it.

Learners should do the group-reading activities after reading the story. Let learners work in groups to complete the appropriate group-reading activities included in the back of the book. They should not write in this book. Written activities should be done in their exercise books.
Wendy Whale to the rescue
Long, long ago the Clownfish family lived on a coral reef in the deep blue sea.
After school, the three children helped to tidy their home.

After cleaning, the children did their homework and then played in the coral.
The Clownfish family was very happy living in the sea. They found lots to eat and they were very safe.

Until one day ...
... when the Clownfish family heard someone screaming loudly.

"Help! Help! Help!"

"Who is screaming?" Mrs Clownfish asked.
"What is happening?" asked Mr Clownfish.
"We are scared!" cried the three little fish.
Help!
Then danger struck. They saw Scaly Shark chasing poor Angie Angelfish.

Poor Angie Angelfish was so scared. She swam deeper and deeper into the sea to get away from Scaly Shark.
The Clownfish family put their heads together. How could they save Angie Angelfish?

There was only one fish that was not afraid of Scaly Shark. It was Wendy Whale.
Mr Clownfish phoned Wendy Whale.

“Help! Wendy, help! Scaly Shark wants to eat Angie Angelfish. She’s in trouble.”
Wendy Whale swam quickly to the Clownfish’s home.

“Let me help Angie Angelfish. I am big and strong and I am not afraid of Scaly Shark.”
With a slap and a flip of her tail, she smacked Scaly Shark with a bump and a thump. Angie Angelfish was saved.

Angie Angelfish thanked the Clownfish family. She swam off as fast as she could, back to her home – far, far away.

“Wendy Whale saved us!” shouted the Clownfish family.

The CAPS requires teachers to allocate some time each day for focused group-guided reading. In group-guided reading, teachers guide learners of a similar reading level, to read the same book, in a group.

The reading session should include a range of word attack skills and comprehension strategies that children require when reading. Reading effectively also requires “text talk” between the teacher and learners, and amongst the children in the group. These books include a number of “text talk”, comprehension and other related activities to help teachers direct group reading in their classes.
